HOW TO BUILD A BETTER PHOTO FILE

by Scott Meyer (from SEARCH Vol. 2 No. 3, Fall, 1982)

Mr. Meyer is a member of the Jewish Genealogical Society of Illinois and Assistant Editor of Search which is published by the JGSI. He has done genealogical research involving extensive re-photographing of rare pictures and documents.

Some genealogists have realized that they can better preserve old photographs and documents by re-photographing them. When the photographs return from the lab the problem of deciding what to do with the copies and negatives must be tackled. A number of people resort to using shoe boxes stuffed with envelopes and overflowing with negatives. Eventually they must decide what to do with the shoe boxes!

The problem seems worse when you realize that many of the photographic copies will never be put in albums or frames, but must still take up space; and just try finding your favorite picture of Uncle Hershel from among hundreds of negatives! There must be an easier way--and there is!

"When taking a roll of film to the lab to be developed ask that the lab print a contact (proof) sheet instead of individual prints. A few days later the store will hand you the negatives as usual, but, in place of 3 x 5 prints will be an 8 x 10 proof sheet. The photo lab will have placed your negative strips on photographic paper, exposed it to light and processed it. You will now have all the photographs from a roll of film printed on one sheet;

Though the pictures are small (the same size as the negatives) one can easily see how enlargements of the negatives might look. The negatives should be placed in a "negative preserver". This is a compartmented sheet of clear plastic into which all the negatives from one roll of film can be stored, These plastic sheets are three hole punched for storage in a three-ring binder. By punching three holed in the side of the contact sheet, and including a piece of paper upon which each shot is identified you can have a very complete filing system within one three-ring binder.

How much more might you expect to pay for this photographic convenience? No more! Though the cost of processing a roll of black and white film and printing 36 separate shots can cost about $10, the cost of developing the negatives and printing a proof sheet is about $5.00.

Whenever a copy of a photograph is desired, you need only look through the index sheets or proof sheets, remove the negative strip (making note of the number of the photograph) and bring it to the photo lab to be printed,

The best part of this whole system is: NO MORE BULKY BOXES!!

NOTE: Many companies make negative storage sheets, but some are less suitable for archival purposes than others due to a higher acid content. Be sure to check with your local camera store or photography lab to see if the sheets they carry are ACID FREE."

PRESERVING PHOTOGRAPHS

At our February meeting, we were very fortunate to have Mr. Mike Fitch, co-owner of Clyde's Cameras 'N Cards of Kankakee for our guest speaker. Mr. Fitch covered many angles including doing your own copying and best methods for preserving your work and those pictures that were handed down to you. Some of his suggestions are:

If you are taking pictures which you hope to keep for posterity, you should use a good black and white film as color film will fade out in approximately 50 years. (Editor's note: When my first child was born 27 years ago we used color slides almost exclusively. In going over some of them this past year, I noticed they were already terribly faded.)

Color prints should never be exposed to sunlight or fluorescent lighting. If you want to frame them, you should use something like Kodak Kodasel film over them before you put them in the frame.

If you are putting your pictures in an album, make sure it is a good album. Cheap album pages are made from inferior plastics with much more chemicals which form gas that will destroy your photos.

You should never write on your photos unless you use a marker especially made for that purpose, such as the R. C. Data Marker or plastic tape.

Old photographs, like anything else around the house for many years, can collect dirt and should be cleaned--especially if you are going to have them copied. This can be done with an ordinary gum erasure. You can also "repairs" faded spots by shading them back in with a soft lead pencil. Mr. Fitch also advises that you ask for your copied prints on an "N" surface.

Examples on how to copy a cracked photograph by the correct placement of light was also shown.

If you have some old family heirloom pictures that you would like to have copied but were afraid, contact Mr. Fitch, or your local reputable photographer. Clean your photos as stated above and bring them in for a "consultation". It normally takes one week to have them processed. Sepia is an extra charge.

Print sixes, locally, as well as most other places, are from Locket through 11 x 14, including wallet, 3-1/2 x 5, 4 x 5, 5 x 7, 8 x 10; and also "Custom" sized and Contact Sheets.

From the State Genealogical Society Newsletter of May, 1982, comes the suggestion that you include small photos on Family Group Sheets, lockets and necklaces, and on the front cover of family newsletters. And by all means, in published family genealogy/history books.

(A thought from the Editor: How about a genealogy charm bracelet?)

BOOKS

Are you a genealogist who is also into videotaping? Then this book is for you. Videotaping Local History from the American Association for State and local history. A quality paperback of 160 pages and extensively illustrated. $11.95 ($9.00 to members of AASLH).

Eight chapters discuss how to select the proper video format, how to set up and use video equipment, how to record oral history interviews, and how to expand interpretation with video. Three appendixes illustrate the equipment available today and include price ranges.

Videotaping Local History is an invaluable guide that places video technology within the reach of anyone interested in interpreting and preserving our ways of life for future generations.

ACADIAN LAND GRANTS

When desiring copies of original land grants, ask first for a map of the area, referred to as Crown Lands Index Maps, then check the lot number for the grantee and order that number grant. Write to the Department of Lands and Forests, Dennis Bldg., Granville Street, Halifax, NS B3H 1W4.

Those that have done so advise that you share your findings with the Public Archives of Nova Scotia, 6016 University Ave., Halifax, N.S. B3H 1W4. They will be most appreciative.

SAD CASE OF SUICIDE -- We are indebted to Mr. J. J. Worcester, of Momence, for the following particulars of the suicide of a Mrs. Butts, an English lady who, with her husband and little family, removed from Chicago to Sumner township in this county, some time last Fall. They located upon a small but pleasant place of 4.0 acres, with neighbors all around them; but Mrs. Butts seemed to pine in her lonely isolation, and craved the enjoyments of familiar society and the daily excitement of city life, such as she had been accustomed to for many years. Her mind became more and more clouded by despondency, until she seemed to manifest, at times, strong symptoms of insanity. The circumstances of the family did not admit of a change, and thus things went on until Tuesday evening of last week, 14th inst., when, between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock, while the rest of the family were sound asleep, Mrs. B. arose from her bed, leaving her young infant nestling by her husband's side, passed out of the room, and into an adjoining retreat, where she placed the fatal cord about her neck and launched her soul into eternity,--from the silence and gloom of earth into that far deeper stillness and impenetrable darkness--the unknown world.

"One more unfortunate, Weary of breath, Rashly importunate, Gone to her death."

About 10 o'clock that evening Mr. B. awoke, found the little infant at his side, and the mother gone. He instantly arose and made diligent search for Mrs. B., and soon found her--too late!--she was stark dead, and cold as the wintry night without. Two little girls, bright and promising, and a tender babe but a few weeks old, are left motherless. Her voice will never dry their tears again, nor her soothing words hush all their fears to peace and silence. None but a father left to them now, and he, too, almost broken-hearted. Surely, "Man that is born of a woman, is of few days and full of trouble".

Justice M. O. Clark was informed of the occurrence, on Wednesday morning, and immediately proceeded to empanel a jury and hold an inquest upon the remains. After due investigation and careful examination of witnesses, the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts above stated, namely: that Mrs. B. came to her death, by her own hand, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, caused by extreme despondency.

Also submitted: MARRIAGE LICENSES FOR 1867

We are indebted to our gentlemanly and obliging County Clerk, W. F. Kenaga, (upon whom we frequently "draw at sight" for items with which to supply our local columns,) for the number of marriage licenses issued by him during the year 1867, in monthly installments, as follows: January - 26, February - 31, March - 20, April - 21, May - 12, June July - 18, August 18, September - 3, October - 29, November - 20, December - 24; Total - 271....

We see that 271 loving couples were made "happy for life," as they thus thought, no doubt, when the mystic knot was tied, and we hope that thought will be fully realized to every one of them.

1876 Directory - City of Kankakee

This is the oldest known city directory in existence. It was hand-typed verbatim by Mr. Donald Reimus, Jr. from the original, which is now locked in the safe of the Kankakee County Historical Society. Mr. Reimus donated a copy of the typed version to the Kankakee Public Library and also to the society for publication here in the Quarterly. The first installment follows.

INTRODUCTION

A directory is a convenience as well in a small as in a large city. In addition to its usefulness as a book of reference it is a complete index, or epitome, of the business, industries, educational facilities, population and general standing of a city at the time of publication---a fixed point in the ever changing course of its duration. In this way it becomes a benefit to every resident, whether in business or not, and on this account if on no other, it merits the support of every one who has at heart the welfare of the city in which he finds a home.

The compiler believes the information given in this volume will be found reliable. No pains have been spared to secure accuracy in all cases, though should it be found that mistakes have crept in, indulgence is begged from those to whom such mistakes may prove annoyances.

The historical sketch embraces all the leading events that have taken place during the time the city has been in existence, and to the critical reader who may assert that much of it has been made public before, it is only necessary to state that facts are facts let them appear when and where they will, and being called for here they have been inserted accordingly. The author, Mr. W. H. Bristol, is well qualified for such work, being an old resident of the place and having been engaged in editorial labor since December 1856, editing successively the Kankakee Democrat, the Janesville, Wis., Democrat and the Galena, Ill., Democrat, and since February 1863 being more or less connected with the press of Kankakee. In '63 he wrote a history of Kankakee county, and is now engaged in writing a series of historical sketches for the Times.

The population of the city according to an accurate census taken the present year is 5,038.

Respectfully,

A. L. HENNESSEY.

More from THE KANKAKEE GAZETTE
 January 23, 1868

IMPRISONMENTS FOR 1867

Sheriff Durfee has kindly furnished us the following list of arrests, and imprisonments in our county jail, during the year 1867; but it must not be understood that all these cases came up for offences committed here in Kankakee county, for we presume that not half of those offences originated here, and many a fugitive from justice was seized by our own officers and imprisoned in the county jail, to wait transfer to the locality where his crime had its origin. We give the list as follows:

For Larceny .....	14
For Debt (on capias) .....	3
Lockups .....	37
Default of Fine (selling liquors without license) ..	2
On Peace Warrants .....	2
For Fraud and Swindling ..	3
On hue and cry as Horse Thieves .....	2
For Attempt to commit Rape	2
For Fornication.....	1

Total ..... 66

Males, 63: Females, 3.

Now even to suppose that all these cases originated here, in a county containing 22,000 people, does it not show a very favorable condition in regard to public order, civil discipline and social morals among us? But when we reduce the sum total to only 33, or even less, as we justly can, does it not present a picture that many counties in our State, with much less population, might well envy? Ashamed, as we are, that we have had a single citizen who committed wrong toward his neighbor, and violated the laws of his State and country, and degraded himself thereby, yet we have no cause to lose our faith and confidence in man, but, on the contrary, to hope and trust for better things hereafter.
